

Bare Trust (Single Life)

WARNING: This is a specimen document. Before you complete it and it is executed, we strongly recommend that you obtain independent legal and tax advice on whether this document is appropriate for your needs and circumstances and on the consequences (including any tax consequences) of signing it. Aviva Protection UK Limited is not able to advise you in this regard and does not accept any liability for the effect or consequences (including any tax consequences) of using this document.

This document is designed to be used for Aviva Protection UK Limited (single life) policies and those originally provided by us under our former name AIG Life Limited only. It is intended for use where an interest in one or more covers is to be retained by the policyholder.

What is the Aviva Protection UK Limited Bare Trust?

Where Aviva Protection UK Limited Covers and those originally provided by us under our former name AIG Life Limited are eligible to be written in trust, there is an option to gift certain benefits, such as death benefits, to the Trust to be held for specific individuals or a group of individuals. If a benefit is gifted into trust, this means that the proceeds that may become payable on the acceptance of a claim will be paid to the Trust and not to you.

A Bare Trust is a trust which enables you as the policyholder to gift certain benefits, such as death benefits, to the Trust to be held by the Trustees for a named Beneficiary or group of Beneficiaries in fixed specified amounts, who will have an immediate right to his/her 'share' of the benefits held in the Trust when they pay out. For further information on this type of trust please read our 'Guide to Trusts'.

The benefits which can be gifted into trust are listed in the 'Gifted/Retained Benefits' section of this document. If you wish to gift a particular benefit into the Trust, please tick the box for the relevant Cover. If the box for a particular benefit is not completed then this benefit will be retained. Some benefits (e.g. Income Protection) cannot be gifted, so will automatically be retained.

Please note: If you choose to retain a benefit under a Cover rather than gift it into trust then it may form part of your estate for Inheritance Tax purposes (whether or not you choose to claim it).

Once you and the Trustees that you choose have signed this document and the Policy commences:

- All benefits payable under the Cover you have selected to gift into the Trust will be held in trust for the Beneficiaries and all other benefits not being gifted will be retained for you;
- The Trustees can only be changed in accordance with the terms of the Trust;
- You cannot change the Beneficiaries named under the Trust or add to them as their interests will be fixed; and
- The Trustees will manage and control the benefits that are being held in the Trust.

Trusts and taxation

Normally, life insurance policies that have been put into trust are not included in your estate for Inheritance Tax purposes. However, this is not the case where benefits have been retained (whether or not those benefits have been claimed).

You should take advice on the tax implications of creating this Trust and settling or retaining benefits under it as well as any ongoing compliance requirements for the Trust with HMRC and/or any other authorities.

The laws relating to the taxation of gifts and trusts may change in the future. Aviva Protection UK Limited shall not be held responsible for any information given in this document or any other Aviva Protection UK limited documentation or documentation originally provided by us under our former name AIG Life Limited or for any changes in tax provisions or legislation that may affect the policies within the trusts or the tax treatment of either the policies or the provisions of the trust or the rules applying to gifts for Inheritance Tax planning purposes.

Please read: Before you complete this document and it is executed, we would recommend that you read our ‘Guide to Trusts’ and speak to a legal adviser. They will be able to help you decide whether a trust is right for you and, if so, which type of trust would suit your needs and circumstances best.

The original executed Trust Deed (or a certified copy of the original) should be sent to: Aviva Protection UK Limited, PO Box 12010, Harlow CM20 9LG as notice of the assignment of the Policy effected by this Trust.
